

Economy Variable Rate Home Loan Fact Sheet.

We're keeping it simple

The Economy Variable Rate Home Loan gives you the benefits of an ongoing low variable interest rate with features such as free redraw and flexible repayment options.

A variable rate means your interest rate can change at any time. As the variable rate changes, so does your monthly repayment amount.

Who can apply

This loan is available to individuals who are:

- buying an owner-occupied or investment property; or
- refinancing an existing Owner Occupied or Investment loan from another financial institution; or
- buying land; or
- making a personal investment.

It is also available for companies or trusts purchasing an investment property.

It's not available for construction, business purposes, Self-Managed Superannuation Funds or refinancing or restructuring existing BOQ loans.

LVR and LMI

The maximum Loan-to-Value Ratio (LVR) for the Economy Variable Home Loan is 90%. For certain security properties, where the LVR is above 70% Lenders Mortgage Insurance (LMI) may be required.

Security and loan term

You need a residential property as security for the loan, and the loan term can be from one to 30 years.

Other features

With an Economy Variable Rate Home Loan you can:

- receive one free property valuation
- make unlimited extra repayments
- request interest only repayments for a term of one to five years
- pay weekly, fortnightly or monthly
- no minimum or maximum loan amount
- access your loan via Internet Banking
- receive a statement every six months.

Top-ups

You can top up your loan by any amount, as long as you meet the top-up criteria.

Redrawing extra repayments

You can redraw any extra repayments you've made for free at any time. The minimum redraw amount is $100.

Splitting your loan

If you want the best of both variable and fixed rates, you can split your loan so that some of the loan is a fixed rate. For example, on a $500,000 loan you might have $250,000 as an Economy Variable Rate Home Loan and the remaining $250,000 on a Fixed Rate Home Loan.
